Puck stoppers exeter nh

This journey will span two continents and will continue today through its great grandchild Anne Vikander. Although WE Cork products are now available from distributors in every region of the United States, the company is based in historic Exeter, NH. From Anne's desk: For more than a 100 years one thing has remained the same at WE Cork, we have a passion for cork. It's glamour, beauty, resilience and the ability to regenerate that make cork so remarkable. These qualities have inspired five generations to believe that using cork in our products is not just a good business sense, but a way of life. I often say that cork should flow through our veins, a common bond that we all share, uniquely lasting. Perhaps this is the secret behind what has made our passion, our family and our business for so long. The cork is an extraordinary ability to regenerate continuously, which allowed our work to be earthy friendly, a concept that forms the foundation of our business. This is something we are very proud of, especially in today's industrialized market. With every year that passes, I feel so pleased that my family's vision four generations ago is still pervasive and resonating in everything we do here at WE Cork. I am very pleased to welcome you to our family, the WE Cork family and invite you to join our vision.
